WETA Focus

This month, we are proud to bring to the public nationwide the important film Ken Burns Presents Hiding in Plain Sight: Youth Mental Illness. A film by Erik Ewers and Christopher Loren Ewers. This extraordinary documentary — a centerpiece of the ongoing WETA Well Beings campaign's Youth Mental Health Project — spotlights an enormous public health crisis facing America's youth. The film illuminates the lived experience of mental illness, presenting the testimonies of more than 20 young people who struggle with thoughts and feelings that at times overwhelm them, and sharing perspectives and hope from youth, caregivers and advocates.

Mental health issues are complex, often exist in secret, and are too often endured in isolation. In presenting this film, we hope to support a growing shift in the public perception of mental illness today. To make progress, we must confront stigma, discrimination and silence. With compassion and empathy, we must encourage sufferers to reach out for help and learn that they are not alone. We can help young people by leaning in and grappling with this crisis, which has been exacerbated by the global pandemic.

The film, the Youth Mental Health Project, and WETA's extensive Well Beings campaign will start a national conversation about youth mental illness that can create greater awareness surrounding these pressing health issues. To promote informed dialogue, WETA is collaborating with an array of experts, partners and sponsors who have come together to provide resources to further this campaign and to help share stories that broaden understanding.

We thank these many partners and sponsors, listed on page 3 and on the back cover of this issue, for their investment in this important initiative. For the compelling documentary, we also thank the filmmakers: Erik and Christopher, our collaborators on the engaging 2018 film The Mayo Clinic; and Ken, our production partner and dear friend for many decades.

I invite you to watch Hiding in Plain Sight: Youth Mental Illness on WETA PBS and WETA Metro and join the discussion about mental health and America's youth. Visit WETA's website WellBeings.org to find resources, a place to share and experience personal stories, and to view more content on mental health themes.

Thank you for your support.

In other programming this month, tune in on Tuesday, June 21 for the broadcast of the WETA production Jon Stewart: The Kennedy Center Mark Twain Prize. We are delighted to be working again with the Kennedy Center to bring the Mark Twain Prize specials to the public after a two-year hiatus due to the pandemic. Enjoy the proceedings as the iconic comedian-satirist receives the Kennedy Center's prize for American humor, and comedy and entertainment luminaries honor him for his production work and for his devoted advocacy on behalf of America's veterans and 9/11 first responders.

WETA TV Highlights

Endeavour, Series 8 on Masterpiece

Sundays starting June 19 at 9 p.m. on WETA PBS & WETA Metro;
stream on the PBS App; binge-watch with WETA Passport

Shaun Evans and Roger Allam return as young police detective Morse and his mentor DI Fred Thursday in a new season of the popular Masterpiece drama Endeavour, which presents three new two-hour episodes. In the new programs, it is 1971, and as our heroes conduct investigations, troubled Morse shows more signs of struggle with his inner demons, and his colleagues and friends wonder if he is beyond the point of no return. The three episodes are Striker (June 19), spotlighting an explosive Oxford college murder that has potentially far-reaching political ramifications; Scherzo (June 26), probing a death that leads Endeavour and the team down a surprising path; and Terminus (July 3), in which an Oxford don is slain and Thursday receives news that creates tension at home. And Joanie is back. Stream the series with WETA Passport as of June 19.

Hotel Portofino

Sundays starting June 19 at 8 p.m. on WETA PBS & WETA Metro;
stream on the PBS App; binge-watch with WETA Passport

Set in the breathtakingly beautiful Italian Riviera resort town of Portofino, a six-part drama spotlights personal awakening, glamor and mystery at a time of global upheaval in the traumatic aftermath of World War I — and the liberating influence of Italy's enchanting culture, climate and cuisine on British travelers. Based on the novel by J.P. O'Connell, Hotel Portofino follows the life of the Ainsworth family, which has relocated from Britain to open an upscale hotel on the Italian coast. As elite guests such the imperious Lady Latchmere check into the hotel, matriarch Bella Ainsworth tries to keep up with their constant demands. Mingling commences among guests in an exhilarating cocktail of drama and intrigue. Natascha McElhone, Oliver Dench, Mark Umbers and Olivia Morris star alongside Anna Chancellor. Stream the series with WETA Passport as of June 19.

All Creatures Great and Small, Series 2 on Masterpiece

Sundays, June 12 at 6:30 p.m. / June 19 at 10 a.m. & 6:30 p.m. on WETA PBS

As part of its summer membership drive, WETA reprises Season 2 of the blockbuster Masterpiece drama All Creatures Great and Small. In the seven episodes, return to the Yorkshire Dales to follow the adventures of Scottish veterinarian James Herriot in the 1930s as he makes his way in the farming town of Darrowby, winning respect for his work, forging friendships and community, and finding romance. Nicholas Ralph stars, opposite Samuel West as James' boss Siegfried Farnon; Callum Woodhouse as Siegfried's younger brother, Tristan; Anna Madeley as housekeeper Mrs. Hall; and Rachel Shenton as farmer Helen Alderson, who becomes the focus of James' attention.

KEN BURNS PRESENTS

HIDING IN PLAIN SIGHT YOUTH MENTAL ILLNESS

A FILM BY ERIK EWERS & CHRISTOPHER LOREN EWERS

New WETA co-production premieres Mon-Tues, June 27-28 at 9 p.m. on WETA PBS & WETA Metro; stream on the PBS Video App

The critical state of youth mental health in the United States remains largely hidden as young people and their families struggle to recognize and manage overwhelming challenges while navigating a difficult era in America. The new two-part, four-hour documentary film Hiding in Plain Sight: Youth Mental Illness, from executive producer Ken Burns and directors and co-producers Erik Ewers and Christopher Loren Ewers, offers a glimpse into daily life for youth with mental health challenges, from seemingly insurmountable obstacles to stories of hope and resilience. The program, produced by Florentine Films, Ewers Brothers Productions, and WETA, premieres June 27-28 at 9 p.m. on WETA PBS and WETA Metro — and PBS stations nationwide. The film is part of Well Beings, a national campaign created by WETA to demystify and destigmatize physical and mental health through the power of storytelling.

“We interviewed a diverse group of courageous young people from across the country with a range of diagnoses who spoke openly with us, and shared intimate, and often painful, details of their mental health journeys,” said Erik Ewers and Christopher Loren Ewers. “We hope that by bringing these experiences to a broadcast and online audience, our film will help shed light on how commonplace — how truly universal — mental health challenges are, and encourage other young people who are struggling to seek help. As the pandemic has made clear, caring for the mental health of kids, teenagers, and young adults is more vital than ever.”

“As a society, we continue to test the resiliency of youth without truly understanding how the stresses of today, including this unprecedented pandemic, are impacting them,” said executive producer Ken Burns. “Erik and Christopher and their team set out to listen and learn from America’s young people, documenting their experiences.”

Brave Personal Testimonies

The film Hiding in Plain Sight: Youth Mental Illness features the courageous and unvarnished first-person accounts of more than 20 young people, ranging in age from 11 to 27 and from around the country, who live with mental health conditions including depression, eating disorders, anxiety and addiction. Through the experiences of these young people, the documentary confronts the issues of stigma, discrimination and silence — and explores the ways in which resources, policies, and awareness can improve the lives of those affected and all who care for them.

Speaking for many, and speaking to us all, those offering testimony in the film include a teenager who surrenders to addiction at the age of 15; a high school freshman whose childhood hallucinations intensify after a series of assaults; a transgender teen who goes through periods of profound joylessness and substance abuse; and a 14-year-old boy who is plagued by intrusive thoughts and withdraws into his own world. Alongside these frank accounts are those of parents, therapists, school counselors, doctors and others who share perspectives on how to help — and reasons for hope. The film draws on the expertise of mental health providers and advocates.

Stories from more than 20 young people

“About 75% of mental illness has onset before age 25;
about 50% before age 14.
We need to respond to this with the urgency it deserves.”

—Dr. Thomas Insel, former director,
National Institute of Mental Illness

Multiplatform Resources

Hiding in Plain Sight: Youth Mental Illness is a central part of Well Beings, a multi-year, multi-platform health campaign created by WETA with support from a broad coalition of national and local partners and accessible online at the robust website WellBeings.org, created by WETA. Well Beings brings together teens, families, educators, mental health professionals, advocates, and civic leaders to raise awareness of youth mental illness and the ways in which individuals and communities can respond with support and resources. The campaign includes other feature-length documentaries on issues of mental and physical health, award-winning short-form original digital content, user-generated storytelling, and an educational curriculum on WellBeings.org. The Well Beings Youth Mental Health Project was developed with guidance from a national advisory board.

Community Engagement & The Well Beings Tour

The extensive outreach effort surrounding the Well Beings campaign included a 30-city national tour that began in the summer of 2020, featuring community-based outreach events — created in conjunction with local public broadcasting stations — spotlighting mental health topics and available resources. The tour most recently featured the May 26 virtual event BIPOC Youth Mental Health:

Building Resilience Through the Arts, serving the Washington, D.C. area.

Each event on the tour brought together youth sharing their lived experiences — and local educators, community leaders and health experts.

A Broad Coalition of Support

Support for the Well Beings Youth Mental Health Project is provided by Otsuka, Kaiser Permanente, Bank of America, Liberty Mutual Insurance, American Psychiatric Association Foundation, One Mind, Movember, National Alliance on Mental Illness, Dana Foundation, Dauten Family Foundation, The Hersh Foundation, Mental Health Services Oversight & Accountability Commission, Meadows Mental Health Policy Institute, XQ Institute, John & Frances Von Schlegell, Sutter Health, Robina Riccitiello, and Jackson Family Enterprises.

Well Beings partners include CALL TO MIND at American Public Media, PBS NewsHour Student Reporting Labs, WE Organization, Forbes, PEOPLE, Mental Health America, National Council for Mental Wellbeing, The Steve Fund, The Jed Foundation, Athletes for Hope, Find Your Anchor, and Well Being Trust.

Visit the film’s website, pbs.org/plainsight. Join the conversation on youth mental health by visiting WellBeings.org, and following @WellBeingsOrg on Instagram, Facebook, and Twitter, and via #PlainSightPBS and #WellBeings.

On WETA PBS, tune in to True Colors: LGBTQ+ Our Stories, Our Songs (left) on June 7 at 8 p.m. for a celebration of Pride Month with music from Indigo Girls, Billy Gilman, Morgxn, Peppermint, Jujubee, Alexis Michelle, Trey Pearson, Breanna Sinclairé, André de Shields and others — along with real-life stories of hope hosted by Amy Schneider. Also tune in for Joe Papp in Five Acts: American Masters, June 3 at 9 p.m. on WETA PBS and WETA Metro, to learn about the larger-than-life, visionary founder of The Public Theater Free Shakespeare in the Park and producer of groundbreaking plays such as Hair, A Chorus Line and for colored girls... Papp believed in a “theater of inclusion,” on-stage, backstage and in the audience — and that women, LGBTQIA+, BIPOC and other historically marginalized communities, denied power elsewhere in society, could develop it on the stage.

The Great American Recipe

Fridays at 9 p.m. starting June 24 on WETA PBS & WETA Metro;
stream on the PBS App

PBs celebrates America’s diverse culinary roots in a new uplifting eight-part competition series on Friday nights that highlights the unique and iconic multiculturalism of American food. Hosted by Today food and lifestyle contributor Alejandra Ramos (foreground), The Great American Recipe features judges Tiffany Derry, Graham Elliot and Leah Cohen leading a cross-country search for treasured recipes from the nation’s most talented amateur cooks. The series gives talented home cooks from different regions of the country the opportunity to showcase their beloved signature dishes and compete to win the national search for “The Great American Recipe.” From family favorites passed down through generations, to internationally influenced recipes that are quickly becoming mainstays of American cuisine, the series mixes camaraderie with competition, revealing personal stories and the inspiration behind contestants’ favorite recipes. In the finale, remaining contestants must prepare an entire meal for the judges.

MARK TWAIN PRIZE

WETA production premieres
Tuesday, June 21 at 9 p.m.
on WETA PBS & WETA Metro;
repeats June 26; stream on the PBS App

A new WETA production honors the humor and accomplishments of Jon Stewart, presenting a lively hybrid of documentary film and gala performance that spotlights the iconic comedian and satirist's receipt of the 23rd annual Mark Twain Prize for American Humor from the John F. Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts. For the 21st year of the award event's broadcast on PBS, WETA captured the Mark Twain Prize proceedings — the first since 2019 due to the pandemic — on behalf of a nationwide audience. Jon Stewart: The Kennedy Center Mark Twain Prize, featuring performances recorded in April in the Kennedy Center Concert Hall, airs Tuesday, June 21 at 9 p.m. on WETA and other PBS stations — and streams on the PBS App. The 90-minute special, a collaboration between WETA, the Kennedy Center, and production company Done + Dusted, shares celebrity admirers' tributes to Stewart and illuminates his work. Participants include Samantha Bee, Steve Carell, Dave Chappelle, Gary Clark Jr. (the event's music director), Stephen Colbert, Pete Davidson,

Ed Helms, Jimmy Kimmel, Jon Meacham, Olivia Munn, John Oliver, Bruce Springsteen and Bassem Youssef.

Of the honoree, Kennedy Center President Deborah F. Rutter said, "For more than three decades, Jon Stewart has brightened our lives and challenged our minds as he delivers current events and social satire with his trademark wit and wisdom. For me, tuning in to his television programs over the years has always been equal parts entertainment and truth."

Stewart is considered one of America's top social and comedic voices. Over his 16-year run as host and executive producer of Comedy Central's The Daily Show with Jon Stewart, Stewart redefined political satire in American culture. Stewart and The Daily Show received a collective 56 Emmy Award nominations and won 20 times. Their 10 consecutive wins for Outstanding Variety, Music, or Comedy Series represent the category's longest streak in Emmy history. The Daily Show also received two prestigious Peabody Awards.

Recently, Stewart launched The Problem with Jon Stewart on Apple TV+, where he brings together people affected by different aspects of a global problem to discuss how to effect change. In addition, Stewart serves as an executive producer on CBS' Late Show with Stephen Colbert. He also co-created and executive produced Comedy Central's award-winning series The Colbert Report. Stewart is an award-winning television and film producer, a best-selling author, and a dedicated social activist whose efforts have played an integral role in the passing of legislation such as the 9/11 Victim Compensation Fund Bill, which benefitted thousands of first responders and their families. Stewart also works on behalf of America's wounded veterans through initiatives led by organizations such as the Wounded Warrior Project and Team Rubicon.

Jamaica Inn • The three-part 2014 British drama, an adaptation of Daphne du Maurier's 1936 gothic novel of the same name, is set in 1821 Cornwall. The production stars Jessica Brown Findlay (Lady Sybil Crawley in Downton Abbey) as Mary Yellan, who joins the household of her Aunt Patience after her mother dies. Mary finds that Patience is under the influence of husband Joss Merlyn at Jamaica Inn, which has no guests and in actuality serves as the center of his criminal enterprise that lures ships and plunders their wreckage. Mary takes an interest in Joss' younger brother Jem — and looks to the local parish vicar and his sister for help. The series is available for binge-viewing with WETA Passport as of June 1.

WETA UK Highlights

Agatha Christie's Poirot

Wednesdays at 10 p.m. starting June 1 on WETA UK

Through 13 series, 70 productions and 25 years, David Suchet inhabited the signature role as crime author Agatha Christie's (fictional) renowned Belgian sleuth Hercule Poirot. Suchet's depiction in the dramas are considered the most true to the descriptions of the famed character in Christie's works. Each adapted from a novel or short story by Christie featuring Poirot, the productions follow the fastidious detective as he famously relies on his "little grey cells" — plus help from his longtime friends Captain Hastings (Hugh Fraser, rear) and Miss Lemon (Pauline Moran), and a rivalry with policeman Inspector Japp (Philip Jackson) — to solve the most intricate of mysteries in the Art Deco era. Episodes air starting June 1 on WETA UK.

Doc Martin, Series 1

Mondays at 9 p.m. starting June 6 on WETA UK

Starring Martin Clunes as the irascible medico, the popular comedy-drama follows the life of celebrated London surgeon Dr. Martin Ellingham, whose tactlessness and arrogance make waves in a small Cornish community. After developing a phobia surrounding blood and retraining as a general practitioner, he flees big-city life and secures a job in the sleepy village of Portwenn, replacing the seaside town's deceased local doctor. But his awkward, abrupt personality doesn't mesh well with the ways of life in Cornwall as he interacts with locals, including his incompetent secretary, a good-natured plumber, the depressed police constable, and local schoolteacher Louisa (played by Caroline Catz), who catches his eye.

Miss Fisher's Murder Mysteries, Series 1

Mondays at 10 p.m. starting June 6 on WETA UK

Essie Davis stars as glamorous sleuth Miss Fisher in the Australian mystery series adapted from Kerry Greenwood's "Phryne Fisher Murder Mystery" novels. A thoroughly modern, independent woman of the 1920s, Fisher goes about her investigations in the back alleys, jazz clubs and shady markets of Melbourne. To the dismay of admirer Detective Inspector Jack Robinson (Nathan Page), she ignores danger, seemingly gliding through life, but beneath her devil-may-care attitude, she hides ghosts from the past. Hugo Johnstone-Burt portrays Constable Hugh Collins, who is intrigued with Miss Fisher's maid Dot, played by Ashleigh Cummings. Enjoy the series from its beginning starting June 6.

Alibi

Thursdays at 9 p.m. starting June 23 on WETA UK

A romantic dark comedy follows two people brought together in the most unusual of circumstances. Starring Michael Kitchen (Foyle's War), Sophie Okonedo (Hotel Rwanda), Phyllis Logan (Downton Abbey) and Tom Knight (Harry Potter, EastEnders), and written by acclaimed screenwriter Paul Abbott, known for hit series including Reckless and Touching Evil, the three-part 2003 drama features a rollercoaster of love, murder and lies. As the story begins, Greg Brentwood throws an anniversary party for his wife, Linda, at their house. Later that night, Marcey, one of the caterers, returns to the house to retrieve her handbag and walks in on an astonishing scene that binds her to Greg.

Also this month: Reality series Escape to the Country airs weeknights at 7 p.m. starting June 1; Blitz Spirit with Lucy Worsley, Sundays, June 12 & 19 at 9 p.m., spotlights the experience of WWII German bombings of the UK; and Simon Schama explores the legacy of the Romantics in The Romantics and Us, Sundays at 10 p.m. starting June 19.

Sky Blossom: Diaries of the Next Greatest Generation

Saturday, June 11 at 8 p.m. on WETA Metro

Troops used to look up and say, “Here come the Sky Blossoms” — paratroopers rushing to their aid. Today, there is a new generation answering that call. This remarkable, award-winning documentary profiles five young people across the USA who are caregivers for their disabled veteran parents or grandparents. The film by director Richard Lui — a journalist and CNN/MSNBC news anchor — was inspired by his personal experience as a caregiver for his father with Alzheimer’s. The program reveals insights into the lives of young people across America. At left: the Grier family cares for veteran Rob, Sr., a football civil rights icon.

Brian Wilson: Long Promised Road: American Masters

Tuesday, June 14 at 9 p.m. on WETA Metro

Explore the life and career of the singer, songwriter, and co-founder and defacto leader of The Beach Boys. The new American Masters film traces the legendary performer’s journey of reflection on a drive through Los Angeles with his friend, Rolling Stone editor Jason Fine. The two explore the formative and creative periods in Wilson’s life as they revisit the places that helped to shape his career. The principal originator of the “California sound,” Brian Wilson is known for his novel approach to composition and recording and is recognized to be one of the most innovative and significant musicians of the 20th century. The film features memorable concert and studio footage as well as interviews with his colleagues and admirers.

POV: The Mole Agent

Saturday, June 18 at 9:30 p.m. on WETA Metro

In this acclaimed, moving POV documentary from Chilean filmmaker Maite Alberdi, follow a private investigator hired to go undercover inside a nursing home as he struggles to balance his assignment with his increasing involvement in the lives of other residents. Nominated for an Academy Award, the 2020 film becomes an honest and unexpected meditation on aging and human connection. In the documentary, 83-year-old Sergio Chamy is sent as an undercover spy to a Chilean retirement home to track suspected elder abuse. Through the lens of the hidden camera in his decoy glasses, viewers watch as Sergio tries to carry on his investigations.

Also this month on WETA Metro: Tune in to The Black Church: This Is Our Story, This Is Our Song, a WETA co-production featuring Henry Louis Gates, Jr. exploring American history and culture, Thursdays, June 16 & 23 at 8 p.m. Also watch Travels with Darley, Mondays-Thursday at 7 p.m. starting June 13, featuring Washingtonian Darley Newman visiting locations around the globe with local guides.

The WETA World channel is a 24/7 news and public affairs service devoted to fact-based nonfiction programming, sharing broad perspectives, stories and ideas. ## America ReFramed

Thursdays at 8 p.m. on WETA World

The documentary series America ReFramed throughout June features Pride Month themes:

- Broken Heart Land (June 16): On an early autumn afternoon, gay teen Zack Harrington killed himself with a gunshot on his parent's ranch in Norman, Oklahoma. Against the backdrop of a town bitterly divided on the issue of homosexuality, Zack's parents, both conservative Republicans and military veterans, are forced to reconcile their own social and political beliefs with their son's death. Determined to understand him, they discover a diary, which paints a portrait of a youth in crisis, and a chilling secret that Zack kept hidden for almost two years.

- Little Miss Westie (June 23): A loving and insightful portrait of transgender siblings Luca and Ren, and their parents, is set in the changing social climate following the 2016 presidential election. The film goes behind the scenes as the family navigates puberty, school, dating and more — and as the children begin living in their authentic genders and Ren participates in the Lil' Miss Westie Pageant.

- Before You Know It (June 30): With humor and candor, this film celebrates the bold and brave lives of active gay senior citizens who have witnessed extraordinary change in their lifetimes: from the Stonewall Riots and gay liberation to the HIV/AIDS pandemic and gay-marriage rights. Born before the modern Gay Rights Movement, Dennis, Ty and Robert have become pioneers in an "out" generation of elders. While some gay Americans adhered to the cultural norms of earlier times, others became activists and live out, loud and proud.

Independent Lens: Cured

Tuesday, June 14 at 8 p.m. on WETA World

A powerful exploration of a pivotal chapter in the struggle for LGBTQ+ equality, the 2021 documentary Cured shines a light on the campaign that led the American Psychiatric Association to remove homosexuality from its manual of mental illnesses — the Diagnostic and Statistical Manual of Mental Disorders (DSM) — in 1973. Same-sex attraction had been classified as a "sociopathic personality disturbance" in its first 1952 edition. The psychiatric establishment deemed homosexuality a condition to be "cured," and members of the LGBTQ+ community were subjected to cruel treatments. Cured spotlights the pioneering activists, including Barbara Gittings (right), who took on a formidable institution and emerged victorious.

Mighty River Ends the Season on Front Row Washington

June 20 at 9 p.m. on WETA Classical

By John Banther, on-air host

It's the final month on Front Row Washington before the broadcast's summer break. On June 20 we feature the National Orchestral Institute Philharmonic performing Maurice Ravel's Mother Goose ballet and Mighty River by Errollyn Wallen, which she described: "It is an innate human instinct to be free, just as it is a law of nature that the river should rush headlong to the sea. That is the concept behind Mighty River. Slavery claimed the lives of countless people, but somehow my ancestors found the grit and determination to persist in spite of the conditions in which they found themselves. I dedicate Mighty River to my great-great-great-great-great grandmother." Front Row Washington airs Mondays at 9 p.m. in June and returns September 5.

Metropolitan Opera Broadcasts Sign Off for the Season

Opera Matinee, Saturdays, 1 p.m. on WETA Classical

By Linda Carducci, on-air host

The Metropolitan Opera's radio broadcast season concludes this month with two operas from the modern era. Featured June 4 is the Met premiere of Brett Dean's Hamlet, based on Shakespeare's work and critically acclaimed at its world premiere in 2017. Igor Stravinsky's chamber opera, The Rake's Progress, airs June 11. This dark comedy, written in the 1950s during Stravinsky's neo-classical period, incorporates stylistic references to earlier composers and was inspired by William Hogarth's "moral" paintings of a young man led astray.

Starting June 18 and through the return of Met broadcasts next December, Opera Matinee on WETA Classical showcases productions from renowned opera houses across Europe and North America. Featured works June 18 and June 25 are, respectively, Mason Bates' The (R)evolution of Steve Jobs from the Santa Fe Opera and, conducted by Gustavo Dudamel, Mozart's The Marriage of Figaro from Opéra de Paris.

Behind the Scenes: The WETA Classical “Digitization” Project

By Jodi Beznoska, WETA

A visitor to the WETA Classical studios in Arlington, Virginia, would quickly notice the thousands of CDs lining walls and offices in the facility. On those slim disks reside an enormous collection of audio tracks. Today, the hosts on WETA Classical use these CDs to select the music that listeners hear every day. Soon, however, that will change.

Since 2019, the WETA Classical team has been performing the painstaking and vital work of transferring those CDs into a digital audio system that hosts will use to create their live and digital broadcasts. By the time the monumental project is complete, the team will have extracted and cataloged tens of thousands of audio tracks.

WETA Classical evening host James Jacobs, one of the leads on the “digitization” effort, is quick to point out that while the project is about improving the technology of the station, “it’s a really hands-on process” that requires expertise and experience. Each track must be carefully examined and edited to ensure that the audio is transferred at the highest quality — and in the best format to be enjoyed by WETA listeners in their cars, via headphones, or on full stereo speakers. Also, each track must be named and catalogued so that accurate playlists can be generated.

Jacobs has seen other classical stations through this process, so he knows the importance of getting it right. “Classical music is different from pop music, where piece lengths are set and the dynamic range is predictable,” he said. “So, organizing it requires more care and feeding. For example, Vivaldi’s Four Seasons can be listed in Italian or English; which should we choose for our catalog?” (They went with the English title.)

When this “digitization” process is complete, WETA Classical hosts will still play music in real time for listeners, but they will use a digital library of tracks, rather than a physical CD in a CD player. WETA will retain the CD collection in storage due to music legal rights and usage requirements. The digitization of the collection will not only save studio space, but will offer a better listener experience.

“It’s a rewarding process,” Jacobs said. “We are really paying attention to the individual sound of a piece of music and how it’s presented. And we can eliminate those occasional CD skips! Ultimately, we want to come through for our listeners to offer the best possible sound quality and experience on the air.”

Music for Gloriana on Choral Showcase

Sundays at 9 p.m. on WETA Classical

By Bill Bukowski, on-air host

“Gloriana” was the name of a character representing Queen Elizabeth I in Edmund Spenser’s epic poem “The Faerie Queene”; it became her popular name following the defeat of the Spanish Armada in 1588. Gloriana is also the title of a 1953 opera by Benjamin Britten, written for a new queen, Elizabeth II. On June 5, Choral Showcase presents music composed for two Elizabeths: for Elizabeth I, works by Byrd and Tallis; and for Elizabeth II (whose Platinum Jubilee this year marks her 70th year on England’s throne), Choral Dances from Gloriana, and the Coronation Te Deum by William Walton. Join me for Choral Showcase each Sunday at 9 p.m. on WETA Classical.
