Classical Music for Greater Washington and the Nation

Plus Performance Specials and Drama Marathons on WETA PBS
Our classical music service, WETA Classical, offers indispensable programming to the community of Greater Washington and to the nation, presenting vibrant radio broadcasts and digital streams that are a cherished destination for all who love the art form. This profoundly expressive music, in all its considerable power and beauty, is a vital part of the cultural life of our community and our world.

I invite you to bring classical music into your day. Take advantage of all that WETA Classical and our all-vocal classical music service WETA VivaLaVoce have to offer. Enjoy and celebrate the music with us, from selections presented around the clock with expert curation by our superb announcers, programmers and producers — to special programming devoted to choral, operatic and symphonic works; local performance; and emerging talents. We strive to serve a wide range of classical music interest, from that of the devotee to the listener newly experiencing the music's manifold joys, solaces and inspirations.

We enthusiastically embrace our mission to extend and expand appreciation of classical music, to offer entrée to the art form, and to broaden accessibility to it. Our rich classical music online offerings and educational resources — including the podcast Classical Breakdown, informative music news and events blog Classical Score, and introductory Take Note! site — illuminate the music, the composers, and performing artists and their artistry. Explore and learn more at wetaclassical.org; and tune in or stream our outstanding music offerings.

Just as we present classical music in our WETA Classical radio service, so too do we spotlight the art form in our WETA PBS and WETA Metro television programming. This month, watch for classical music concerts on the series Great Performances — highlighted in the pages that follow — including an exciting annual summer night concert filmed in Vienna, Austria.

WETA proudly serves Greater Washington with informative, entertaining programming that we create specifically for area viewers. As part of our mission of service to our community, we have been investing in our local television productions and web video content to spotlight the people, places and arts that make the national capital area such a wonderful place to live. We are delighted that audiences have responded with warm praise, and it is my pleasure to share news of accolades for our local content.

In late June, our house-hunting and neighborhood series If You Lived Here, restaurant series Signature Dish, arts showcase WETA Arts, and web-based video series Boundary Stones History Shorts won a total of five Capital Emmy Awards. I congratulate the WETA staff members who received the honors — and all at WETA who work to bring to the public this engaging content.

I thank you, our members, for your generous support, which makes possible all that we do on behalf of our community. We are very proud to be your hometown public media station.

Season 1 of the American history series Iconic America: Our Symbols and Stories with David Rubenstein, a WETA co-production, concludes with an August 1 episode that illuminates another of the nation’s icons. In this program, The Golden Gate Bridge, learn about the engineering marvel that symbolizes America’s can-do spirit and explore whether we as a nation can still undertake such bold projects. The program repeats Saturday, August 5 at 7 p.m. and 11 p.m. on WETA PBS.

Guiding Iconic America is David Rubenstein — co-founder of The Carlyle Group, patriotic philanthropist, lifelong student of history, author, and the series’ host and executive producer. A proponent of civics and history education in the United States, Rubenstein visits special places around the country in Iconic America to meet and engage with historical thinkers, community members, and subject matter experts. Together, they consider each symbol and its story, how its meaning has changed over time, and how Americans identify with it.

The Iconic America project includes a robust educational component beyond the broadcasts, encouraging people of all ages to explore local history. The project is providing nationwide teacher trainings, virtual tours for classrooms, and expertly crafted lesson plans. Visit the project’s website at pbs.org/iconicamerica; engage with the series on social media using the hashtag #IconicAmericaPBS; and join the Iconic America Reading Challenge via hashtag #IconicBookChallenge. Iconic America: Our Symbols and Stories with David Rubenstein is a production of Show of Force, DMR Productions, and WETA.

Funding for Iconic America: Our Symbols and Stories with David Rubenstein is provided by The Zohar and Lisa Ben-Dov Family through the Luminescence Foundation.

WETA launches ReadingUniverse.org
New website from WETA Learning Media aids educators

Just in time for back-to-school, WETA, trusted producer of award-winning educational digital media, has launched the new website ReadingUniverse.org in partnership with The Barksdale Reading Institute and First Book. Reading Universe offers an authoritative, step-by-step pathway for teachers to understand the latest insights for teaching reading and writing — and then translate them into classroom practice. Research-based, engaging, and video-rich, Reading Universe offers comprehensive guides to teaching reading skills as well as quick, concrete answers for common challenges, with a particular focus on teaching student groups who are often overlooked. The resource-laden site — featuring lesson plans, in-classroom videos, printable activities, and more — reflects input from some of the most knowledgeable and influential voices in the field of education. Reading Universe is deeply grounded in the experience of the Barksdale Reading Institute, which contributed to dramatically improved reading instruction in the state of Mississippi.

WETA adds ReadingUniverse.org to its unparalleled portfolio of literacy services for educators and families, including ReadingRockets.org, Colorín Colorado.org, LDOnLine.org, and AdLit.org.

Reading Universe is made possible by generous support from Jim & Donna Barksdale, the American Federation of Teachers, the Emily Hall Tremaine Foundation, and two anonymous donors.

Agatha Christie’s Marple
Saturday, August 12, noon–6 p.m.
on WETA PBS

WETA PBS reprises classic episodes of Agatha Christie’s Marple, featuring one of the famed crime author’s shrewdest, most observant and most perceptive sleuths, Miss Marple. Geraldine McEwan portrays Marple as sprightly and mischievous; she watches, she listens, she knits — and ultimately she cracks the case before anyone else.

• By the Pricking of My Thumbs — Saturday, August 12 at noon, repeating Sunday, August 13 at 9:30 p.m.
Miss Marple collaborates with detectives Tommy and Tuppence Beresford (played by Anthony Andrews and Greta Scacchi) to probe suspicious behavior and a death at the nursing home of the Beresfords’ elderly aunt.

• The Sittaford Mystery — Saturday, August 12 at 2 p.m., repeating Sunday, August 20 at 9:30 p.m.
Sitting out a blizzard at a remote mansion, Marple is on hand when the night turns deadly. Timothy Dalton portrays the estate owner, eminent politician Clive Trevelyan. Patricia Hodge, Carey Mulligan and Laurence Fox also guest star.

• At Bertram’s Hotel — Saturday, August 12 at 4 p.m.
Marple notes an atmosphere of danger while staying at a posh London hotel, as fellow guests gather for the reading of a wealthy man’s will. Guest stars include Francesca Annis, Ed Stoppard and Mark Heap.

Once Upon a Time in Northern Ireland
10 p.m. Monday; 9 p.m. & 10 p.m. Tues.-Wed., August 28-30 on WETA PBS;
binge-watch with WETA Passport

A powerful five-part series explores the decades-long conflict in Northern Ireland known as “The Troubles.” The series from the makers of the BAFTA and Emmy Award-winning series Once Upon a Time in Iraq (which aired as a Frontline special in 2020) tells the story through the intimate testimony of ordinary men, women and children on all sides of the conflict who were drawn, both willingly and unwillingly, into the bitter clashes that rocked Northern Ireland and who are still struggling to hold on to a fragile peace. The programs from director James Bluemel and the BBC combine personal accounts with archival footage to explore the story of the people and communities that had to live with conflict daily — and are still contending with its legacies today.

Following years of negotiations between politicians, paramilitaries and the British and Irish Governments, IRA and loyalist paramilitaries announced a ceasefire in 1994; and there was widespread joy when the Good Friday Agreement was finally announced four years later, but peace came at a cost. The early release of all paramilitary prisoners from prison — a key part of the agreement — caused anguish for many, especially the injured and bereaved, who faced what all post-conflict societies face — a peace built upon the violence of the past. Once Upon a Time in Northern Ireland runs chronologically from the beginning of The Troubles in the late 1960s to the Belfast/Good Friday Agreement signed 25 years ago in April 1998. The series also airs on WETA Metro.

What to Do When Someone Dies
Sunday, August 27, 8-11 p.m. on WETA PBS;
binge-watch with WETA Passport

In this three-part, three-hour British drama based on a bestselling 2009 novel by Nicci French, Anna Friel stars as schoolteacher Ellie Manning, a wife who is devastated to learn that her beloved husband Greg — portrayed by Marc Warren (Van der Valk on Masterpiece; Hustle) — has died in a car accident with a mystery woman in the passenger seat. Stricken with grief and refusing to believe her husband was having an affair, Ellie sets out to make sense of his death and to learn the truth of who the woman was and why she was in the car. Finding out what happened will be a journey of discovery — and danger.
Drama Marathons: Sanditon, Series 3 on Masterpiece & Doc Martin, Series 9
Sundays, August 13, 20 & 27 on WETA PBS; binge-watch with WETA Passport

WETA presents a marathon airing of two popular dramas, featuring all six Season 3 episodes — back-to-back — of Masterpiece drama Sanditon, as well as all eight Season 9 episodes of Doc Martin.

Sanditon, Series 3 on Masterpiece — Sunday, August 13, 10:30 a.m.-6 p.m.
Based on Jane Austen’s unfinished last novel set in early 1800s England, Season 3 completes the stories of heroines Charlotte Heywood (Rose Williams) and Georgiana Lambe (Crystal Clarke). The first two seasons raised and dashed matrimonial prospects for the two women. Although Charlotte’s father expects her to marry a local farmer, she has attracted several eligible bachelors in the resort town of Sanditon. Lambe, an heiress, can’t trust her own suitors because they may only be seeking her fortune. The two women bond over courtship dilemmas and resolve to forge their own destinies.

Doc Martin, Series 9 — Sunday, August 20, 11 a.m.-6 p.m., 7-8 p.m., repeating Sunday, August 27, 6 a.m.-2 p.m.
British drama Doc Martin stars Martin Clunes as titular character Dr. Martin Ellingham, the socially challenged physician serving the small coastal Cornwall village of Portwenn. In Season 9, after a disaster with a patient, Martin must face the judgment of the General Medical Council, which assesses his fitness to continue practicing medicine. Meanwhile, Martin’s wife, Louisa Ellingham (Caroline Catz), has resigned from her job as headmistress at the local school to pursue a new career in child counseling. Martin’s formidable Aunt Ruth (Dame Eileen Atkins); Bert Large (Ian McNeice) and his son Al (Joe Absolom); the doctor’s receptionist Morwenna (Jessica Ransom); PC Joe Penhale (John Marquez); and pharmacist Mrs. Tishell (Selina Cadell) all figure into the storyline.

Drama and mystery fans take note! Popular Sunday-night series return this fall with new seasons! Starting September 3 are Van der Valk, Series 3 on Masterpiece; Professor T, Series 2 (UK version with Ben Miller); and Unforgotten, Series 5 on Masterpiece. In mid-October, watch for Hotel Portofino, Series 2; World on Fire, Series 2 on Masterpiece; and Annika, Series 2 on Masterpiece.

Frontline: Inside the Iranian Uprising
Tuesday, August 8 at 10 p.m.
on WETA PBS & WETA Metro

Investigative journalism series Frontline goes inside the Iranian Uprising with gripping eyewitness accounts in a new program this month. Last fall, anti-government protests swept across Iran after the death in police custody of a young woman, Mahsa Zhina Amini, who was accused of not adhering to the Islamic regime’s strict dress code. In the crackdown on protests that followed, human rights groups estimate that more than 500 Iranians have been killed, including 72 children. In a country where journalists are tightly controlled, young Iranians have been filming the uprising themselves and posting the videos online. For more than six months, Frontline has been gathering and reviewing more than 100 hours of this footage, cross-checking it with testimony from eyewitnesses and protestors, and following activists and exiles who have been gathering evidence of human rights violations. The resulting documentary presents the harrowing stories of protestors, some of whom are still in the country and are speaking out despite the risks, and it sheds new light on the lengths to which the regime of Ayatollah Ali Khamenei has gone to put down the uprising. “The people are now like a volcano,” one interviewee says. “I am a volcano.” The documentary traces how the protests began in the Kurdish parts of Iran and spread throughout the country — and how the authorities responded with force.

Johnny Cash: Man in Black –
Live in Denmark 1971
Wednesday, August 16 at 8 p.m.
on WETA PBS

A special program features one of country music’s greatest icons in concert with guests June Carter Cash, Maybelle Carter, Carl Perkins and the Statler Brothers. The 1971 performance in Europe spotlights the great singer-songwriter and his road company before an audience that delighted in the country, rockabilly, American roots music, and spirituals of the evening’s repertoire, with the “Man in Black” backed by his airtight backup band, the Tennessee Three. The concert features June Carter Cash in three duets with her husband, including “If I Were a Carpenter.” The legendary Maybelle Carter — June’s mother, Cash’s mother-in-law, and matriarch of the First Family of Country Music — is also on hand to perform, as are her other talented daughters, Anita and Helen. Also among the star-studded lineup are Carl Perkins, the rockabilly eminence of “Blue Suede Shoes” immortality, and the Statler Brothers, much loved for their off-the-wall humor and homespun four-part harmonies.

Learn about Johnny Cash (and the Carters and many other artists) in the Ken Burns film Country Music, a WETA and Florentine Films co-production that continues on Saturdays, August 5 and 26 at 8 p.m. and streams with WETA Passport. The country music artist is a throughline in the music history series.

Kenny Rogers Live in Concert
Saturday, August 12 at 10:30 p.m.
on WETA PBS

WETA features a concert program starring music icon Kenny Rogers — a Grammy Award-winner and Country Music Hall of Fame member — filmed at the Greensboro Coliseum in Greensboro, North Carolina, in March 1983. The special includes exuberant, timeless live performances of eleven Top 10 songs by Rogers at the top of his game and the peak of his popularity. The set list includes six #1 songs (that hit the top spot on a combined 11 different charts) — “The Gambler,” “Lady,” “Lucille,” “Through The Years,” “Love Will Turn You Around,” and “We’ve Got Tonight” with Sheena Easton — plus “Ruby, Don’t Take Your Love to Town” (from the Kenny Rogers & The First Edition catalog), “Love the World Away,” “All My Life,” “Scarlet Fever” and “Blaze of Glory.” Rogers also performs fan-favorite album cuts including “You Are So Beautiful.”

The first country artist to consistently sell out arenas, Rogers achieved pop superstardom around the globe, becoming one of the best-selling artists of all time with more than 120 million albums sold. The staying power, universal appeal, vocal prowess, showmanship, storytelling ability and charisma Rogers had as an artist is on full display in this concert celebrating his extraordinary six-decade career. The program repeats Tuesday, August 15 at 9:30 p.m. on WETA PBS; and an extended version of the show will stream on WETA Passport.

Also watch the special 2019 program Ken Burns: Country Music, Saturday, August 12 at 8:30 p.m. on WETA PBS.
Join host and award-winning singer Kathy Mattea to learn more about the making of the epic documentary — a WETA co-production — devoted to the history of the American art form. Highlighting extraordinary moments from the series, this special program features music; video clips; and interviews with musical artists and filmmaker Ken Burns, his longtime collaborator Dayton Duncan, and other members of the film’s creative team.
Buffalo Soldiers: Fighting on Two Fronts, A Local USA Special

Tuesday, August 15 at 8 p.m. on WETA PBS; stream on the PBS App

An award-winning documentary explores the complex history of Black soldiers in the United States military. Director Dru Holley weaves together the testimony of historians, experts and descendants of Buffalo Soldiers with archival photographs, reenactments and animation. The film tells the story of how newly free Black Americans enlisted and served bravely in the U.S. Army — and examines the contradictions in their participation in the settling of the American West and colonialism abroad. Established by Congress in 1868, the 14th Amendment granted full citizenship to Black men; and many pursued service in the armed forces. They helped lead the expansion of the U.S. westward; they helped build and guard transcontinental railroads and served as park rangers in places like Yosemite before the U.S. government established the National Park Service. The soldiers fought in the Indian Wars, the Spanish-American War, the Philippine-American War, the Mexican Punitive Expedition, and many other conflicts.

All Creatures Great and Small: Chapter Three

Sunday, August 13 at 8 p.m. on WETA PBS

In this new special, go behind the scenes of Season 3 of the charming Masterpiece series All Creatures Great and Small with the drama’s cast and creators. The program features interviews with actors Nicholas Ralph (James Herriot), Rachel Shenton (Helen Alderson), Callum Woodhouse (Tristan Farnon), Anna Madeley (Mrs. Hall) and Samuel West (Siegfried Farnon) and celebrates how the series takes viewers back to a simpler time and what makes it so charming, while highlighting some of the favorite storylines. Members of the production team — including lead writer Ben Vanstone, executive producer Melissa Gallant and producer Richard Burrell — provide insight into the creative process. Production designer Jacqueline Smith, makeup designer Jackie Sweeney, and costume designer Ros Little discuss how they research every detail for authentic period sets, hair, makeup, and costumes.

Great Performances Concert Specials on WETA PBS

Leonard Bernstein’s Kaddish Symphony airs Monday, Aug. 21 at 9:30 p.m.
Vienna Philharmonic Summer Concert airs Friday, Aug. 25 at 9 p.m.

Performing arts series Great Performances presents two classical music concerts this month. On August 21, experience Leonard Bernstein protégé Marin Alsop conducting the Chicago Symphony Orchestra in a performance of Bernstein’s Kaddish Symphony, featuring soprano Janai Brugger, the Chicago Children’s Choir and Jaye Ladymore as narrator. The programmatic choral symphony was published in late 1963 and was dedicated to the memory of John F. Kennedy. “Kaddish” refers to a Jewish prayer recited at services for the dead.

On August 25, enjoy the Vienna Philharmonic Orchestra’s annual open-air Summer Night Concert, which this year features guest soloist mezzo-soprano Elīna Garanča under the direction of guest conductor and Metropolitan Opera music director Yannick Nézet-Séguin. The concert takes place in the gardens of Austria’s Imperial Schönbrunn Palace. The programme includes music from Bizet’s Carmen, Gounoud’s Sapho, and Saint-Saëns Samson et Dalila, along with works by Ravel, Berlioz and others. The concert also airs August 25 at 9 p.m. on WETA Metro.

British Television at Its Best

The WETA UK channel is devoted to the best in British television programming, presenting beloved classics and contemporary series around the clock, seven days a week. WETA UK offers a full schedule of fine entertainment programming – featuring drama, mystery and comedy – in addition to documentary series and news reports.
The premiere of the antiques series Secret Dealers was postponed from mid-July to August 10; the series will air weekdays at 7 p.m. Also this month: WETA UK reprises Midsomer Murders, Series 16, Wednesdays at 8 p.m. starting August 2, and Spanish-Italian romantic comedy Love, Inevitably, Tuesdays at 10 p.m. starting August 22.

Halifax: Retribution

Saturdays at 9 p.m. starting August 26 on WETA UK

A seven-episode 2020 Australian crime series stars Rebecca Gibney as Doctor Jane Halifax, a university professor who two decades prior worked as an investigator aiding police in cases that involved explorations of the mental state of suspects or victims. Halifax has enjoyed life in academia and a loving and stable family life with her musician husband Ben and stepdaughter Zoe, but events draw her back into the field to pursue her former vocation. When a sniper terrorizes Melbourne, the case become personal, and Halifax signs on to help the taskforce working to catch the killer. Anthony LaPaglia (Without a Trace) co-stars.

Our House

Thursdays at 8 p.m. starting August 3 on WETA UK

In a gripping three-part story of intrigue, conspiracy and betrayal, Fi Lawson — portrayed by Tuppence Middleton (Downton Abbey; Dickensian) — arrives home to find strangers moving into her house. Plunged into terror and confusion, she insists her home isn’t for sale — how can this other family think the house is theirs? Discovering that her husband, Bram, has disappeared, Fi’s panic rises as she realizes the secrets and lies have only just begun. But Bram is not the only one with things to hide. Martin Compston (Line of Duty, Traces) and Rupert Penry-Jones (MI-5, Silk, Whitechapel) co-star.

Cranford

Fridays at 9:30 p.m. starting August 4 on WETA UK; 9 p.m. as of Aug. 25

Oscar-winner Judi Dench leads a star-studded ensemble cast in this classic Elizabeth Gaskell adaptation — a rich and comic drama based on the author’s novels about life in a small, early 19th-century English market town during an era of rapid social transformation as the Industrial Revolution gathers momentum. The poignant story follows the minor absurdities and major tragedies in the lives of Cranford residents during one year as railway construction from industrial Manchester draws nearer, bringing fears of change and disorder. In parallel, the arrival of a handsome London doctor with new medical methods causes a stir.

Martin Clunes: Islands of the Pacific

Saturdays at 5 p.m. starting August 19 on WETA UK

Martin Clunes (Doc Martin; Islands of Australia) embarks on an epic voyage in search of the real Pacific through the lives, culture and stories of the people he meets along the way. In Episode 1, Clunes experiences French Polynesia through French baguettes, coral wine, and an outrigger canoe. He swims with sharks, visits Marlon Brando’s wildlife program, and sails to the remote Marquesas to meet a horse whisperer. Episode 2 finds Clunes exploring the southwest Pacific. In Vanuatu, he climbs an active volcano and meets a tribe that worships Prince Philip; in Tonga he meets a third-gender leiti and a princess; and in Fiji he visits an island singer — and a tribe tricked out of their lands. In Episode 3, Clunes explores the Galapagos, getting up close to wild creatures. He joins conservation expeditions; sees evolution in action; and visits an organic farm and the site of a murder mystery.

POV: Children of the Mist
Saturday, August 5 at 8 p.m. on WETA Metro

Shortlisted for the Academy Awards, the 90-minute documentary film Children of the Mist traces the story of Di, a carefree 13-year-old girl coming of age in a remote indigenous Hmong community in the mist-shrouded mountains of Northwest Vietnam. As part of the first generation in her village with access to formal education, Di navigates the cultural and social challenges faced by young girls in her insular community while balancing inherited tradition with change. The 2021 film, directed by Vietnamese filmmaker Hà Lê Diem, delves into the controversial but accepted tradition of “bride kidnapping” still practiced by the Hmong, one of Vietnam’s largest ethnic groups. Diem engaged with Di’s family through three years to document Di’s journey.

Pacific Heartbeat, Series 12 – new episodes!
Saturdays, August 12 & 19 at 8 & 9 p.m. on WETA Metro

Anthology film series Pacific Heartbeat presents new Season 12 episodes illuminating the heart and soul of Pacific Island culture. Ola Hou – Journey to New York Fashion Week (Aug. 12) follows a Native Hawaiian fashion designer as she brings her designs to the prestigious New York City fashion event. Island Cowgirls (Aug. 12) highlights two Hawaiian cowgirls (paniolo) dedicating their lives to caring for their family ranches. Daughters of the Waves (Aug. 19) spotlights a young Polynesian surfer undaunted by Tahiti’s Teahupoo wave, considered one of the most dangerous in the world, and follows her and her sisters’ surfing aspirations. Hawai‘i’s Precious Resources (Aug. 19) presents three short films that explore the delicate balance in Hawai‘i’s ecosystems, spotlighting the islands’ tree snails and coconut palms. WETA Metro also presents previous Pacific Heartbeat films (Season 11), Saturdays, August 5, 12 and 19.

Parks Stories
- The Living Dream: 100 Years of Rocky Mountain National Park
- Glacier Park’s Night of the Grizzlies

Thursday, August 31 at 8 & 9:30 p.m. on WETA Metro

Two 90-minute programs feature stories of iconic American public lands. The first (8 p.m.) presents a history of Colorado’s Rocky Mountain National Park. In celebration of RMNP’s centennial year, the film celebrates the park’s history by exploring how its rugged and pristine beauty has inspired generations of people. Narrated by filmmaker Nick Mollé, The Living Dream features the personal experiences of many historical figures involved in the shaping of the park. The second film (9:30 p.m.), visiting Montana’s Glacier National Park, presents an account of August 1967 bear attacks that killed two people and mauled another. The documentary explores the tragedies and how they came to influence the fate of the grizzly bear in the continental United States. Actor J.K. Simmons narrates.

Also on WETA Metro: British mystery series Before We Die, Series 1 airs Sundays, August 13 & 20 at 8 p.m.; and the 2017 Masterpiece adaptation Little Women airs Sunday, August 27, 8-11 p.m.
The WETA World channel is a 24/7 news and public affairs service devoted to fact-based nonfiction programming, sharing broad perspectives, stories and ideas. WETA World informs and educates, presenting award-winning documentaries and domestic and international news broadcasts. The channel features a slate of original programs that examine issues with a diversity of voices and illuminate conflicts, movements and cultures around the globe.

Real Stories from Around the World

Forces of Nature

Tuesdays, August 1, 8, 15 & 22 at 9 p.m. on WETA World

This month, WETA World presents more than 100 programs spotlighting nature and the environment. Among them is the four-part 2016 BBC and PBS miniseries Forces of Nature, which explores the forces that keep Earth on the move and shape the natural world. Each episode illustrates how we experience Earth’s forces: Shape (Aug. 1) spotlights how we can see the shadows of forces in the shapes of nature that surround us. Elements (Aug. 8) examines how our planet’s ingredients, the chemical elements, came together to make our planet a living world. Color (Aug. 15) highlights how, by understanding the creation of Earth’s colors and the energy they carry, we can learn the secret language of the planet. Motion (Aug. 22) delves into how the forces of nature have kept Earth on the move since it was formed. Though we can’t feel the motion, we experience the consequences — from tidal bores to hurricanes and more.

Rivers of Life

Wednesday, August 16, 7-10 p.m. on WETA World

A miniseries from BBC and PBS featuring breathtaking photography spotlights great rivers of the world. A three-part 2022 series (Season 2) from this landmark production — airing 7-10 p.m. on Wednesday, August 16 — explores Africa’s wildest river, the Zambezi; Europe’s Danube, which travels through more countries than any other river; and North America’s great frozen river, the Yukon. Journey from source to mouth and travel through awe-inspiring landscapes to discover the spectacular wildlife and fascinating people that thrive along these great rivers. Season 1 episodes, focusing on the Nile, the world’s longest river; the Amazon, the greatest river system on Earth; and the Mississippi, whose fingers stretch into nearly half the USA, airs Tuesday, August 22, 2-5 p.m. on WETA World.

Doc World: Afghanistan: The Wounded Land

Sundays at 10 p.m. in August on WETA World; stream with WETA Passport

On the anniversary of the U.S. withdrawal from Afghanistan, international documentary series Doc World features an encore presentation of a four-part recent history of the country. Khaled Hosseini (“The Kite Runner” author) narrates. Episode 1: Kingdom (Aug. 6) explores how in the 1960s, Afghanistan was divided between a westernized elite and a traditional, largely poor majority of the population; a communist revolution set these contradictions on fire. Episode 2: Jihad (Aug. 13) spotlights the 1979 Soviet invasion of the country and resulting period of conflict. Episode 3: Taliban (Aug. 20) examines the period after the Soviet army left Afghanistan, including conflict between Mujahedeen commanders and the emergence of the Taliban. Episode 4: Trap (Aug. 27) explores how, following 9/11 and the overthrow of the Taliban, an international coalition tried to bring peace and democracy to Afghanistan.

On From the Top: Liszt, a Young Pianist & New Music

Each Sunday, From the Top celebrates stories of talented, young classically trained musicians and presents their recitals. This month, some of the most fun music written for violin is performed brilliantly on the August 13 broadcast by 15-year-old violinist Anais Feller of San Diego, California. She is joined by a talented young pianist, Taige Wang, from Irvine, California, and other youth musicians performing challenging new repertoire. Feller performs excerpts from Zigeunerweisen/Gypsy Airs by Pablo de Sarasate; Wang performs Hungarian Rhapsody No.11, S.244 in A minor by Franz Liszt; and other young artists perform works for saxophone (by Roberto Molinelli); oboe (by William Grant Still); and marimba and clarinet (a duet by Derrick Spiva Jr.). Tune in to From the Top each Sunday at 6 p.m. on WETA Classical.

Choral Brahms on Choral Showcase

This month, Sunday-night WETA Classical program Choral Showcase dives deep into the works of Johannes Brahms, beyond his masterpiece — and one of the best-loved choral works of all time — German Requiem. The program will explore his sacred motets, Liebeslieder or “Love Song” waltzes, select songs for women’s choir, and the Schicksalslied, or “Song of Destiny,” for chorus and orchestra. One of the highlights will be the Geistliches Lied, Op. 30, a work of profound solace and consolation much like the German Requiem. In other Choral Showcase programs this month, enjoy Stravinsky and Rautavaara “bird” works on August 6; Evensong compositions by Tallis, Fauré and Duruflé on August 27; and more. Tune in to Choral Showcase each Sunday at 9 p.m. on WETA Classical.

Opera Matinee Features Bellini’s La Sonnambula

Weekly Saturday broadcast Opera Matinee continues its series of performances with La Sonnambula (“The Sleepwalker”) by Vincenzo Bellini on August 26. The bel canto beauty follows the troubles of a woman beset by somnambulism and caught in a web of misunderstanding. The production is from Belgium’s Opéra Royal de Wallonie, featuring Jessica Pratt and René Barbera in the principal roles, and led by Giampaolo Bisanti. Other presentations this month include a production by The Royal Opera (London) of Alban Berg’s Wozzeck (August 5), a powerful story of a destitute soldier’s undoing and demise; and a Budapest Festival Orchestra production of Benjamin Britten’s Turn of the Screw (August 19), a ghost story-turned-opera about a household haunted by previous caregivers — based on the novella by Henry James. Tune in to Opera Matinee each Saturday at 1 p.m. on WETA Classical.

Enjoy Vocal Classical Music on VivaLaVoce

WETA Classical’s service VivaLaVoce presents classical vocal music in all its forms, from the Middle Ages to the present, 24 hours each day. Featuring opera (including a daily opera at 8 p.m.), choral music, and art song, VivaLaVoce can be heard on HD channel 90.9-2 and online through the audio player on wetaclassical.org.
James Jacobs, the evening host of WETA Classical, attributes his love for classical music to his older brother, Ben, who saw "2001: A Space Odyssey" at the age of twelve, and he, six. The music from the film was purchased as the original soundtrack, but it was actually a complete performance of Richard Strauss’s tone poem "Also Sprach Zarathustra." This introduced the brothers to classical music via recordings from their local library.

Jacobs was hooked and read every book about classical music he could find. He also listened to every record he could get his hands on and borrowed his brother’s walkie talkies to start broadcasting classical music radio programs when he was nine. Fortunately, his family moved to a school district that provided free music instruction, so he began playing the cello two weeks after his tenth birthday.

As he grew older, Jacobs found himself turning to classical music for solace. He credits the experience of his father’s death and the subsequent series of tragedies and setbacks his family endured as his catalyst for turning to classical music. The motherland provided order and beauty that reality could not compete but could meekly aspire.

Jacobs found Beethoven’s story particularly compelling and relatable. Everything about his life was so broken, and he was all too aware of his own fallibilities and inability to sustain relationships, but on the plane of music he was triumphant and demonstrated the kind of person he could have been if not for all the damage. He remembers as a kid repeatedly listening to the slow movement of Beethoven’s String Quartet op. 132, which he wrote as a kind of offering to the cosmos in gratitude for recovering from an illness. Other works he was obsessed with in his youth were Bach’s St. Matthew Passion, the clarinet quintets of Mozart and Brahms, and Stravinsky’s The Rite of Spring.

As he grew up, Jacobs’ musical interests expanded to incorporate artists such as John Coltrane, Bob Dylan, and the Bulgarian Women’s Chorus. Even though he loved the cello, he soon branched off into conducting, composing, improvisation, rock, and klezmer music. He eventually decided that his true gift didn’t lie in creating music, but in being an educator and ambassador for it.

Jacobs was on the faculty of the Brooklyn Conservatory for eight years starting in 1999, during which he helped to co-produce a music education radio show for kids. That was the first step in a public media career that would bring him to WNYE and WNYC in New York, to WGBH in Boston, and finally to WETA in 2014. Along his journey in music, he’s been conducted by Gustav Leonhardt and Mstislav Rostropovich, written scores for documentaries produced by HBO and PBS, appeared on A Prairie Home Companion, and taught hundreds of students who inspire him.

Today, among his many interests, Jacobs works in sound design, and his projects include collaborating with a theater collective based in Kolkata, India. He recently worked as a coach and conductor with a teen opera company in Massachusetts, and he hopes to continue those endeavors. He’s also a prolific writer, with pieces published in The Washington Post and Moment Magazine as well as WETA’s online blog Classical Score.
