If You Lived Here
Four new episodes feature beloved co-hosts
This month, in our portfolio of Emmy Award-winning local productions that illuminate our community, our restaurant series Signature Dish spotlights breakfasts at Washington-area establishments. The show’s culinary explorations will next return in February with more new episodes. Meanwhile, on the Thanksgiving holiday, Seth Tillman of Signature Dish will host a special marathon of cooking shows featuring the public television icon Julia Child. Over on our local arts and culture series WETA Arts, in November we highlight a Grammy-winning Smithsonian record label, visit a local ballet school, and, with host Felicia Curry, tour the National Museum of the United States Army.

We also premiere four special new episodes of our popular house-hunting and neighborhood series If You Lived Here. The presentation of these vibrant broadcasts is bittersweet for us at WETA, for these are the last four programs that feature our longtime colleague John Begeny, who co-hosted the show for 40 episodes. John passed away peacefully on August 21 after a valiant, brief battle with cancer.

We are bereft, heartbroken by our loss. John was truly incomparable, a beloved WETA colleague and friend; a warm, kind soul; an enormous talent; and an impossibly quick and irreverent wit. He never met a stranger — and lit up many a room and conversation with a hilarious quip or anecdote. John’s mirth was truly infectious, and he carried it right through his illness, astonishing his physicians. He loved life, he loved his job, and he was devoted to WETA.

John embodied our ethos of public service. He was an extraordinary professional — as a senior officer of our Membership staff in a WETA career that spanned four decades, he worked tirelessly to support our mission, on the air and off. His dedicated efforts as a fundraiser helped to sustain our important service to you, our members, and to the public. A native Washingtonian, he cared deeply about our community and its people, as is evident in the many neighborhood history television productions he co-created over the years with his WETA teammate and best friend Christine Louise, his If You Lived Here co-host. We will cherish his memory.

To learn more about John, visit weta.org/rememberingjohnbegeny.

We are thankful for those we work with every day; we are proud to create meaningful content for you and the community we serve; and we are grateful to be a part of your life. Thank you for embracing our productions and our programming — and for your ongoing support of WETA.

Independent Lens: A Town Called Victoria
Mon-Tues, Nov. 13-14 on WETA PBS & WETA Metro; stream on the PBS App

A documentary airing over two nights, Nov. 13 (9:30 p.m., WETA PBS; 9 p.m., WETA Metro) and Nov. 14 (10 p.m., WETA PBS & WETA Metro), spotlights the 2017 burning of a mosque in the town of Victoria, Texas — and the aftermath. After building lives in the town for more than 30 years, leaders of Victoria’s Muslim community watched in horror as their spiritual and communal home was destroyed. To their surprise, hundreds of their fellow Victorians rallied in support of the community, and substantial funds were raised to rebuild the house of worship. Then, the South Texas community had to face difficult questions about its divisions.

A Towering Task: The Story of the Peace Corps
Saturday, November 18 at 8 p.m. on WETA Metro, 11 p.m. on WETA PBS

Founded during the Cold War and the Kennedy Administration, the Peace Corps stands as an icon of American idealism. The two-hour 2019 documentary A Towering Task: The Story of the Peace Corps explores the mission of the independent agency — a U.S. government program that trains and deploys volunteers to provide international development assistance — and how it is imbued with the energy and vision of its leader, Sargent Shriver, and its dynamic volunteers. The film, narrated by Annette Bening, chronicles the history of the Peace Corps, from the establishment of the new agency and the new concept in international relations to the agency’s growing pains as it has strived to define its mission. The film repeats November 19 at 4 p.m. on WETA PBS.

Groundbreakers
Tuesday, Nov. 21 at 8 p.m. on WETA PBS & WETA Metro; stream on the PBS App

A new two-hour documentary spotlighting the impact of Title IX celebrates 50 years of excellence and advancement in women’s sports. The program features sports icon and equality champion Billie Jean King discussing the past, present and future of women in sports, with trailblazing women athletes. Groundbreakers traces how, in June 1972, the passage of Title IX, a small 37-word provision in the 1972 Education Amendments, guaranteed all people — regardless of gender — equal access to federally funded programs. The historic bill made it possible for girls to participate in sports activities nationwide. The film weaves together the firsthand stories of eight sports icons as they discuss how their own struggles and achievements shaped their field. The interviews pair an athlete at the top of her game today with an athlete whose achievements helped pave the way for those who followed. The pairings include Billie Jean King and flag football star Diana Flores; basketball legend Nancy Lieberman and Olympic gold snowboarder Chloe Kim; soccer star and World Cup winner Julie Foudy and Olympic gold gymnast Suni Lee; and track and field world-record holder Jackie Joyner-Kersee with four-time tennis Grand Slam winner Naomi Osaka.
Weta's award-winning local restaurant series Signature Dish features another new Season 2 episode in November, showcasing standout dishes at establishments around the Metro D.C. area. The Emmy-winning WETA production is hosted by Seth Tillman, who leads the series’ culinary and cultural explorations, meeting local chefs and learning about their creations. The November 6 program, Best of Breakfast, the final episode of the fall season of Signature Dish, explores one of the most-requested cuisines from the viewers of the series — breakfast!

Seth samples delightful dishes meant to kick-start any morning, from breakfast tacos at La Tejana in D.C.’s Mount Pleasant neighborhood, to Poolesville, Maryland’s Locals Farm Market’s famous chicken and waffles, to the scallion pancake breakfast sandwich at Any Day Now in D.C.’s Navy Yard. Signature Dish will be back in 2024 with six new episodes beginning in February. The program is available to stream on the WETA PBS YouTube channel, through the PBS App, and at weta.org. Visit the online Signature Dish Restaurant Guide at wetaguides.org/restaurants.

Seth hosts Thanksgiving with Julia on WETA PBS

Also this month, spend Thanksgiving Day with cooking legend and public television icon Julia Child in a special 8 a.m.-5 p.m. marathon on WETA PBS hosted by WETA producer and Signature Dish host Seth Tillman. Feast your eyes on classic episodes of Child’s original program The French Chef and programs from the later series Dishing with Julia Child, with fun facts about the chef and her connections to the Washington area sprinkled in between. As Julia herself would say: “Bon Appétit!”

Smithsonian Folkways, The Washington Ballet & the U.S. Army Museum on WETA Arts

Monday, Nov. 6 at 9:30 p.m. on WETA PBS; 8:30 p.m. on WETA Metro; stream on the PBS App

In November, Emmy Award-winning arts and culture series WETA Arts spotlights the Grammy Award-winning Smithsonian Folkways Recordings, a nonprofit record label of the Smithsonian Institution. For its 75th anniversary, the label commissioned Baltimore-based experimental electronic music duo Matmos to make an LP using the label’s back catalog. Next, at the Washington School of Ballet, affiliated with the famed professional company The Washington Ballet, dancer and choreographer Miya Hisaka directs a program that teaches adult dancers for whom ballet is not a vocation but a passion. Also on the November program, host Felicia Curry takes a tour of the National Museum of the United States Army with museum director Tammy Call. The museum, located at Fort Belvoir, is dedicated to showcasing an American institution that predates the founding of our nation.

This month’s episode of WETA Arts repeats on Monday, Nov. 20 at 9:30 p.m. on WETA PBS and Mondays throughout the month at 8:30 p.m. on WETA Metro. Stream WETA Arts via the PBS App and at weta.org.
In November, WETA’s acclaimed local house-hunting and neighborhood exploration series If You Lived Here spotlights more communities in four new episodes. Co-hosting the programs are Christine Louise and, in his final appearances on the series, John Begeny, who passed away in August. In the shows, they visit more homes around the D.C. area; talk with realtors, historians and residents about local neighborhoods; and discover what makes each community special. Stream the popular series on the PBS App and at weta.org. Visit the series’ Neighborhood Guide at ifyoulivedhere.org to learn more about neighborhoods in Metro D.C.

Rosslyn, VA
Monday, November 13
Hosts John and Christine visit Rosslyn with realtor Aiden Berri, exploring urban living and touring a contemporary one-bedroom condo; a two-bed/two-bath condo with amazing rooftop views; and a three-bedroom dream property penthouse with private elevator. They stop at the Quarterdeck Restaurant for Maryland Blue Crabs – and they learn about neighborhood history, including Dead Man’s Hollow, Arlington House and Arlington National Cemetery.

Foggy Bottom, DC
Monday, November 27
Realtor Gigi Winston helps the hosts explore the neighborhood of the Watergate, the Kennedy Center, the Potomac River and more. First, they tour an updated one-bedroom unit followed by a two-bedroom townhouse with hidden brick details. They finish the day at the iconic Watergate Complex to tour a three-bedroom property with a stunning river view. Along the way, they learn about the area’s history and thriving art scene.

Columbia, MD
Monday, November 20
Together with realtor Peter Boscas, the hosts visit properties in Columbia and learn about James Rouse, who planned the community and inspires local residents with his dream of inclusivity and diversity. They visit a three-bedroom classic Columbia townhouse; a four-bedroom contemporary property; and a spectacular newly built home with four bedrooms. The episode also explores Merriweather Post Pavilion and shares stories of performing artists who appeared there.

Rockville, MD
Monday, December 4
Guided by realtor Rowena De Leon, Christine and John – in the neighborhood where John was born – visit a two-bedroom condo overlooking Grosvenor Park, followed by a classic four-bedroom rambler. They also tour a four-bedroom dream bungalow home; learn about the history of Rockville Pike, including Offutt’s General Store (which became Hank Dietle’s Tavern); and visit local Filipino business Gwennie’s Bakery.

Veterans Day Programming

WETA presents special programming in celebration of Veterans Day on WETA PBS, WETA Metro and WETA World. In addition to the WETA PBS programs highlighted below, see page 18 for details on WETA Metro films, and on page 19 find offerings on WETA World that include a November 11 marathon of special programming.

Also on WETA PBS:
Independent Lens: Three Chaplains Mon 11/6, 10pm • This film follows Muslim chaplains in the U.S. military as they support and defend the religious rights of service members.

On WETA Metro:
The Metal Detector Sat 11/11, 8pm + Dear Sirs Sat 11/11, 8:30pm • See WETA Metro highlights (p. 18) for details.

On WETA World:
Among programming is a special Veterans Day marathon, Sat 11/11, 1-8pm • Films spotlight the Vietnam War (1 p.m.); Merrill’s Marauders (2 p.m.); the Memphis Belle (3 p.m.); the Tuskegee Airmen (4 p.m.); Iwo Jima Seabees (5 p.m.); Bob Dole’s World War II service (6 p.m.); and the psychological wounds of war (7 p.m., see p. 19).

To Be of Service
Saturday, Nov. 11 at 10 p.m. on WETA PBS

The effect of war is profound for all those engaged in the conflict. Veterans returning home may experience depression and a wrenching disconnect from the world they once inhabited and struggle to function and return to a civilian normal. The 90-minute film To Be of Service — from Academy Award-nominated filmmaker Josh Aronson — follows veterans with the psychological injury Post Traumatic Stress Disorder (PTSD) as they are paired with a service dog, and traces their experience in regaining their lives. The canine companions help vets to get out of the house, find redemption, diminish night terrors, and function with their families again — over time restoring veterans’ ability to feel safe, to trust and to love. Through these deeply bonded relationships, the dogs’ unconditional love and support become the bedrock for traumatized veterans, helping them to regain independence and re-engage with the outside world.

Salute to Service: A Veterans Day Celebration
Friday, Nov. 10 at 9 p.m. on WETA PBS & WETA Metro; stream on the PBS App

A star-studded concert special hosted by Jon Stewart celebrates Veterans Day with the United States Field Band, honoring heroes past and present and reflecting on veterans’ service and sacrifice. The one-hour show features a stellar lineup of performers, including country music artist Mickey Guyton, singer/songwriter Amanda Shires, and Broadway star Mandy Gonzalez. The special is a heartfelt showcase of musical diversity and singing talent. The soldiers of the U.S. Army Field Band lead a collective salute to the many heroes who have served, protected the nation, and inspired new generations of America’s defenders. The show also introduces real-life heroes such as Medal of Honor recipient and Green Beret Colonel Paris Davis, a Vietnam War veteran; and trailblazer Evelyn Kandel, a 90-year-old Korean War-era veteran who paved the way for women to serve their country. Also in the program, Stewart sits down with veterans of all service branches across several generations to explore stories of courage and camaraderie.

Also on WETA PBS:
Independent Lens: Three Chaplains Mon 11/6, 10pm • This film follows Muslim chaplains in the U.S. military as they support and defend the religious rights of service members.

On WETA Metro:
The Metal Detector Sat 11/11, 8pm + Dear Sirs Sat 11/11, 8:30pm • See WETA Metro highlights (p. 18) for details.

On WETA World:
Among programming is a special Veterans Day marathon, Sat 11/11, 1-8pm • Films spotlight the Vietnam War (1 p.m.); Merrill’s Marauders (2 p.m.); the Memphis Belle (3 p.m.); the Tuskegee Airmen (4 p.m.); Iwo Jima Seabees (5 p.m.); Bob Dole’s World War II service (6 p.m.); and the psychological wounds of war (7 p.m., see p. 19).
Remembering the Kennedys
Saturday, Nov. 18 on WETA PBS; stream now with WETA Passport
Marking the 60th anniversary of JFK’s death in November 1963, three programs spotlight members of the Kennedy family, exploring the life of John F. Kennedy and the man behind the myth; the unrealized presidency of Robert F. Kennedy, and his legacy; and the intertwined lives of former First Lady Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis and her sister, Lee Radziwill.

JFK: The Making of a President • 8 p.m.
The life of John F. Kennedy is so often defined by his assassination in November 1963, which came to be seen as a turning point for America, a shift out of an age of innocence and hope to one of violence and change. Upon his death, JFK himself was idolized, obscuring the fascinating and contradictory man behind the myth. Explore his story and the making of a president: JFK’s life inside the Kennedy dynasty; his travels through Nazi Germany and fascist Italy; fighting the Japanese during World War II; his many different illnesses often hidden from the public; his glamorous marriage to Jacqueline Bouvier; his journey to become a U.S. Senator; and, finally, his run for The White House. The film also airs on WETA Metro, Thursday, Nov. 16 at 8 p.m.

RFK: The Lost President • 9 p.m.
It is a great “what-if” of the last century: what if Robert F. Kennedy, brother of the murdered John F. Kennedy, had not himself been assassinated while campaigning for the presidency in 1968? Learn about how Robert Kennedy transformed from a Cold War warrior to an advocate of peace, from a son of privilege to a champion of the people during the tumultuous 1960s, from a timid adolescent to a potential president. This film poses the question, what might have been?

Jackie: A Tale of Two Sisters • 10 p.m.
Jackie Kennedy Onassis remains to this day an iconic figure of American history, fashion and tragedy. Her sister Lee Radziwill, however, is less well-known. Yet it is impossible to understand one without the other; their lives were intertwined through rivalry and resentment, love and loss. Explore their lives in this film narrated by Rachael Stirling. The documentary includes contributions from authors Sarah Bradford (“America’s Queen”), Pamela Keogh (“Jackie Style”) and Tina Cassidy (“Jackie after O”). The film also airs on WETA Metro, Thursday, Nov. 16 at 9 p.m.

WETA World Programs Spotlight JFK Assassination
Mon., Nov. 20 at 7 & 8 p.m. on WETA World
Two programs look back on the assassination of President John F. Kennedy in Dallas 60 years ago this month. JFK: Breaking the News (Nov. 20, 7 p.m.), narrated by Jane Pauley, explores how the president’s murder on November 22, 1963 would forever change the country, the world, and the landscape of broadcast journalism. The film focuses on media coverage of the national tragedy, with an insightful look at the emergence of television as the nation’s primary source of breaking-news information. Then, Inside the Warren Commission (Nov. 20, 8 p.m.) offers a riveting account of the people who worked to discover the truth behind the JFK assassination. The film offers insight into The Warren Report’s content, the commission that authored it, and its investigation. Also see additional programs spotlighting JFK on WETA Metro (Thursday, Nov. 16, 8-11 p.m.) and WETA PBS (Saturday, Nov. 18, 8-11 p.m.).

Weekends with Nicola
Nicola Walker in the spotlight on WETA UK

On successive weekends in November, WETA UK presents four popular series featuring a luminary among contemporary British actors. Known to viewers for her acclaimed roles in MI-5 Last Tango in Halifax and many other series, Nicola Walker appears on WETA UK starring as a Glasgow detective in Annika, Series 1 on Masterpiece (Nov. 4 & 5, 2-5 p.m.); as a London detective in Unforgotten, Series 4 on Masterpiece (Nov. 11 & 12, 2-5 p.m.); as the late colleague of DI John River (Stellan Skarsgård) in River (Nov. 18 & 19, 2-5 p.m.); and as part of a couple (with Sean Bean) in Marriage (Nov. 26, 1-5 p.m.).

Adrian Dunbar: My Ireland
Sundays, Nov. 5 & 12 at 10 p.m. on WETA UK

Actor Adrian Dunbar (Ridley on Masterpiece) reconnects with his Irish roots as he travels the west and north coasts of Ireland in a two-part series that shares some of his favorite Emerald Isle locations. The programs spotlight history, food, landscapes, traditions and more, showcasing the Irish Coast. The journey begins on the Atlantic coast in County Donegal, taking in Glenveagh National Park before heading to Dunbar’s hometown in County Fermanagh and winding up at Newgrange, a Neolithic passage tomb. Then Dunbar visits an 18th-century estate and takes a coastal train ride to Powerscourt and the medieval monastic site at Glendalough.

Once Upon a Time in Northern Ireland
Sundays at 9 p.m. starting Nov. 12 on WETA UK

An extraordinary, powerful five-part series explores the decades-long conflict in Northern Ireland known as “The Troubles.” The programs from director James Bluemel and the BBC tell the story through the intimate testimony of ordinary men, women and children on all sides of the conflict who were drawn into the bitter clashes that rocked Northern Ireland. Episodes combine personal accounts with archival footage to spotlight the people and communities that had to live with sectarianism and violence — and are still contending with their legacies today. Once Upon a Time in Northern Ireland unfolds from the beginning of The Troubles in the late 1960s to the Belfast/Good Friday Agreement signed 25 years ago, in April 1998.

Summer of Rockets
Mondays at 8 p.m. starting Nov. 20 on WETA UK

Toby Stephens and Keeley Hawes lead a stellar cast in a six-part 2019 Cold War thriller from BAFTA- and Emmy-winning writer Stephen Poliakoff. In 1958 Britain, Russian émigré and inventor Samuel Petrukin is determined to integrate his young family into the establishment. So when Samuel meets the captivating Kathleen Shaw and her husband, a war-hero and Member of Parliament, he’s dazzled by their glamor. But are his new friends all they seem? When MI5 agents blackmail Samuel into spying on the Shaws, he’s drawn into a web of deception. As his private life becomes tangled with his mission, he faces quandaries: Is a trap being set for him? Is someone betraying the nation? Who can he trust?

Also on WETA UK, enjoy several Masterpiece series: Politics drama Roadkill, starring Hugh Laurie, Saturdays, 9 p.m. starting Nov. 4; marital dramedy Us, with Tom Hollander and Saskia Reeves, Thursdays, Nov. 9 & 16, 8 p.m.; classic Tom Jones, Fridays, 10 p.m. starting Nov. 10; thriller Flesh and Blood, with Imelda Staunton, Francesca Annis and Stephen Rea, Mondays, 10 p.m. starting Nov. 20; and mystery Baptiste, Tuesdays, 8 p.m. starting Nov. 28.

Older Than the Crown
Saturday, Nov. 4 at 9 p.m. on WETA Metro

Airing as part of WETA’s Native American Heritage Month programming, a one-hour film follows the trial of Sinixt tribal member Rick Desautel, who in 2010 was charged with hunting as a non-resident and without a proper permit in Canada. Rick harvested an elk on the ancestral land of the First Nations Sinixt people in Vallican, British Columbia. To the Sinixt, hunting on ancestral land is an aboriginal right — one that has legally been denied to their people since 1956 when the Canadian government declared them extinct in Canada, despite the nearly 3,000 members living on the Colville Indian Reservation in the state of Washington. Via the Desautel Hunting Case (decided in 2021), the Sinixt people brought to light what they viewed as an unjust declaration by the government of Canada and sought to abolish the declaration.

The Metal Detector & Dear Sirs
Saturday, Nov. 11 at 8 p.m. & 8:30 p.m. on WETA Metro

Among WETA Veterans Day programs are two powerful films that air in tandem on November 11. The half-hour film The Metal Detector (8 p.m.) follows the earnest mission of Georg, an Austrian retiree whose mother witnessed the crash of an Allied B-17 near their home during World War II. When he takes up metal detecting to find the wreckage, a growing fascination leads Georg to bring a group of international strangers together, forging an emotional bond. The one-hour film Dear Sirs (8:30 p.m.) presents a personal journey through World War II, 75 years later. After discovering an archive detailing the horrifying journey of his grandfather as an American POW, a young man from Wyoming sets out to retrace his elder’s footsteps across Germany, piecing together an untold story. For more Veterans Day programming, see highlights and details on page 4.

Lucy Worsley’s Royal Myths & Secrets
Sunday, Nov. 26, 8-11 p.m. on WETA Metro

In three programs airing back-to-back, British historian, author, curator and television presenter Lucy Worsley travels across Britain and Europe to visit the locations — palaces, castles and battlefields — where royal history was made, exploring myths surrounding Europe’s royal dynasties and illuminating what really took place. The three one-hour November films each spotlight notable women and their roles in historical events: Elizabeth I and the Spanish Armada, Queen Anne and the formation of Great Britain, and Marie Antoinette and the French Revolution. Learn about Elizabeth I’s image as a warrior queen; how gossip about Anne’s love life helped to destroy her image and legacy despite her role in forging her nation; and Marie Antoinette’s path to the guillotine.
Ukraine Under Attack: 72 Hours in the Presidential Office
Nov. 23 & 24 at 7 p.m. on WETA World

A two-part Japan Broadcasting Corporation (public broadcaster NHK) film, airing over two nights, spotlights the critical first 72 hours of the Russian invasion of Ukraine in February 2022 — chronicled by those who were there, and uncovering fresh revelations about how the beginning of the conflict unfolded. The capital Kyiv was predicted to fall in 3 days, but Ukrainian President Volodymyr Zelenskyy risked his own life to stay put and resist, declaring his nation’s resolve to defend its right to independence. Drawing on interviews with Zelenskyy’s closest aides, and official government releases and global media reports, a new light is shed on events that have set in motion a new era of global polarization and instability.

Stranger at Home: Healing the Psychological Wounds of War
Sat., Nov. 11 at 7 p.m. on WETA World

Airing as part of a November 11 Veterans Day afternoon marathon, the documentary film Stranger at Home weaves the intimate, life-altering stories of an Army Ranger involved in the highly publicized friendly-fire death of football star Pat Tillman; a Navy psychologist forced into whistleblowing; and a Vietnam Marine turned world-renowned trauma expert, as they work tirelessly to deliver their urgent call-to-action for the radical transformation of military mental health. The program explores how a 100-year-old policy may perpetuate trauma (PTSD) and suicide among the nation’s military community — and reveals a blueprint for healing the psychological injuries of war and successfully reintegrating American service members back into society. Stranger at Home offers an in-depth look at eradicating stigma and creating a National Behavioral (Mental) Health Corps as critical steps to safeguarding mental health among veterans.

Tune in to WETA World on Saturday, Nov. 11, 1-8 p.m. for the marathon of Veterans Day documentary films.

On November 1, WETA Classical’s 2023-2024 NSO Showcase broadcast season opens with an epic concert in which Beethoven’s graceful 4th Symphony is complemented by three dramatic, death-defying works by Michael Daugherty, Richard Wagner and Sergei Prokofiev. Last November at the John F. Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts, Gianandrea Noseda led the NSO in the world premiere of Daugherty’s Blue Electra, a concerto commissioned by the soloist in the performance, violinist Anne Akiko Meyers, in honor of Amelia Earhart’s Lockheed Electra10E Special airplane and the disappeared aviator’s pioneering career. Next is the Overture to Richard Wagner’s The Flying Dutchman, inspired by the composer’s near-death experience at sea. And finally, the program concludes with Prokofiev’s rarely performed but masterful Symphony No. 6, written to honor the victims of World War II. Tune in to NSO Showcase on Nov. 1 at 9 p.m., and stream the program, available throughout the month at wetaclassical.org.

In spite of the portrayal in Peter Shaffer’s play, Amadeus — or in the Milos Forman film version — Antonio Salieri had nothing to do with Mozart’s death, or his Requiem. Yes, Salieri and Mozart were rivals, but they greatly respected one another, and viewed death not as something to be dreaded, but welcomed as the entry into life eternal. Mozart’s Requiem was a commissioned work, but as the last piece he was working on before his death, he came to believe he was writing his own. Salieri in fact did write his own Requiem, for his own funeral mass, which would occur 20 years later. We’ll hear both in fresh performances on Choral Showcase on Sunday, November 5. Also on the 9 p.m. Sunday broadcasts this month, we present Rachmaninoff Vespers (Nov. 12); a Mass of Thanksgiving, featuring music by Claudio Monteverdi and his contemporaries (Nov. 19); and Bach cantatas for Advent (Nov. 26).

Tune in to the following opera presentations this month on WETA Classical:

- Verdi’s Attila (Nov. 4), from Opera Festival of Chicago, featuring the Opera Festival of Chicago Orchestra and Chorus, conducted by Emanuele Andrizzi.
- Wagner’s Der fliegende Holländer (The Flying Dutchman) (Nov. 11), from the Bayreuth Festival, featuring the Bayreuth Festival Orchestra and Chorus, conducted by Oksana Lyniv.
- Hasse’s Marc’ Antonio e Cleopatra (Nov. 18), from Haymarket Opera Company, featuring the Haymarket Opera Orchestra, conducted by Craig Trompeter.
- Debussy’s Pelléas et Mélisande (Nov. 25), the composer’s only completed opera, from the LA Opera, featuring the LA Opera Orchestra and Chorus, conducted by James Conlon.

Vote in November’s Classical Countdown on WETA Classical: In an annual Thanksgiving tradition, WETA Classical listeners can help choose music selections that will be featured on the air in November’s “Classical Countdown.” The “polls” are open at wetaclassical.org/countdown, Monday-Sunday, Nov. 6-12 for voting on a wide array of popular classical works. After votes are tallied, the top 100 pieces will be played Nov. 20-23 on WETA Classical, counting down to the top favorite, which airs at 8 p.m. on Thanksgiving Day. Choose your preferred pieces and vote!
Get ready for something special this month on Front Row Washington, the Monday-night WETA Classical program that presents performances by top musicians and ensembles at local venues throughout the Washington area. For the entire month of November, we’ll be featuring exciting concerts from Wolf Trap’s 2022-2023 season of Chamber Music at The Barns. All of the performances were recorded by WETA Classical engineer extraordinaire, Bruce Cain. In addition to being home to one of the most prestigious chamber music concert series in the United States, and a premier local arts institution, Wolf Trap is also our nation’s National Park dedicated to the performing arts.

We open the month’s Front Row Washington presentations on November 6 with a concert titled “American Visitors,” featuring music by Antonín Dvořák, Samuel Coleridge-Taylor and Eugène Ysaÿe, all composers who spent time in the United States. Anne-Marie McDermott, pianist, performs in each work with notable musicians Stella Chen, Arnaud Sussmann, Paul Neubauer and Nicholas Canellakis.

In our program on November 13, Avery Fisher Career Grant recipient and violinist Paul Huang takes us on a musical tour — with pianist Anne-Marie McDermott — of music composed centuries apart by Arvo Pärt, Sergei Prokofiev, W.A. Mozart and John Corigliano.

The last two programs explore string quartets and more from two composers who held each other in the highest regard — but never even met. On November 20, The Escher String Quartet performs quartet and sonata selections by Franz Schubert with pianist Gilbert Kalish. Then, on November 27, it’s the nine-time Grammy award-winning Emerson String Quartet performing selections by Beethoven, including his iconic String Quartet No. 13, with Grosse Fuge.

It doesn’t stop there; we’ll include concerts from the Chamber Music at The Barns series throughout this season on Front Row Washington and let you know what exciting concerts are just around the corner at Wolf Trap. Join me each Monday evening at 9 p.m. on WETA Classical in November as we celebrate Wolf Trap’s Chamber Music at The Barns!

PS: The 2023-24 Chamber Music at the Barns concert season at Wolf Trap, curated by Artistic Advisor Wu Han and recorded for future broadcasts, offers many live performances to look forward to. Among them, in December, the series features the Orion Quartet in concert for one last performance here during their final tour after 35 years together. Early 20th-century composers are featured in a January concert with pianist Gloria Chien. And in February, Wu Han, pianist, leads a concert of selections by Bedřich Smetana and Antonín Dvořák.
