A day at my favorite place goes like this.

On my grandma's Nettie Farm, a year ago one day I was walking in the woods with my friends (Mia, Avery,

Melina, Margaux, Antonio, Sasha, Anastasia and Abby) then I had a snake someone thought they had a snake and when I woke up my friends were gone then I saw the boat that Mia used carries around. "She never goes anywhere without that!" I said. "Mia says: Where are you!" I said "Hmm. Oh! Look I see foot prints." I thought so I followed the foot prints into a library.

"It's just a stupid old library!" I said. "Why would the robbers... Or whatever they are take them here?" I wonder. Then I saw an open book. And the footprints led right into it. So I picked it up. Then suddenly I felt myself falling.

And I fell right into the book. And when I opened my eyes again I was no longer an ordinary girl. I was a book dragon.

And I found Avery! She was tied up and gaged onto a tree. I untied her and an gaged her. "Where am I. And who "Are you!" she said. "It's me, Rellie." I said. "Oh... why do you look like a dragon?" She said. "Because I'm in a book dragon world I think." "And I might be a book dragon... I think. That might explain why I have giant book wings on my back." I said.

"Oh!" said Avery. "Soooo... what happened and where are the others?" She said. "They... kind of got kidnapped." I said.

"What" Avery shouted, "Ya... we really need to find them." I said, "I know." she said, "so what are we waiting for lets get to it." Avery said.

So we went around asking people. And one kind man said that he had seen them at the queen's castle and caught the robbers. And lived happily ever after.
